NEW MASTER OF INTERNATIONAL MANAGEMENT (MIM)

The Master of International Management will be replacing the Master of International Business starting this September 2018. This new program provides advanced general management knowledge for Bachelor's graduates, whether they have prior studied business or not. A Master of International Management has many advantages, as it does not require work experience as part of the admission, and the courses help students develop leadership and managerial skills to encourage them to apply managerial theory to the real world of business.

UNITED AMBASSADORS®

MUN GENEVA

Three of IUG students, Nadia Al Droubi, Leonardo Giani and Mostafa Halawa , participated in the United Ambassador MUN held at the United Nations office in Geneva. Mr. Eric Willumsen, President of the International University in Geneva, delivered a speech at the opening session. The Model United Nations in Geneva offers an accurate simulation of the United Nations. As delegates, students will engage in a negotiation process that accurately mirrors how topics are discussed and solutions for world's pressing problems are reached. Participants will leave with a more realistic understanding of how multilateral diplomacy plays out in real life.
